Election/Restrictions

Claims 4-22 remain withdrawn from prosecution. It is noted that not all claims depending from claim 1 are considered generic. For example, claim 5, claims the connector is a torsional spring which is interpreted as reading on the embodiment shown in figure 5. According to applicant's specification describing figure 5, page 8, line 26, "the frame 52 [is] fixedly attached to the spring 55" which is no different than the connector including element 16 of Phillips (6,206,934) being fixedly attached to element 14 and allowing only flexing of the connector.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(a) the invention was known or used by others in this country, or patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country, before the invention thereof by the applicant for a patent.

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

(e) the invention was described in a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention thereof by the applicant for patent, or on an international application by another who has fulfilled the requirements of paragraphs (1), (2), and (4) of section 371(c) of this title before the invention thereof by the applicant for patent.

The changes made to 35 U.S.C. 102(e) by the American Inventors Protection Act of 1999 (AIPA) do not apply to the examination of this application as the application being examined was not (1) filed on or after November 29, 2000, or (2) voluntarily published under 35 U.S.C. 122(b). Therefore, this application is examined under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) prior to the amendment by the AIPA (pre-AIPA 35 U.S.C. 102(e)).

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claims 1-3 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as anticipated by or, in the alternative, under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as obvious over Wilson et al (5,116,384).

Wilson et al teaches a prosthetic foot comprising an L-shaped frame forming first and seconding axis, the first axis forming a substantially horizontal leg including element 48, the vertical leg includes elements 32, 36, and the leg member (not shown). The prosthetic foot further comprising connector 20 which is "adapted to rotate relative to the substantially horizontal leg of the frame about the first axis" and including footplate 12. It is noted that Wilson et al was previously applied under a different interpretation.

Regarding claim 2, it is well known in the art to use a tubular leg member.

Claims 1-3 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by Phillips (6,206,934).

Phillips teaches a prosthetic foot comprising an L-shaped frame including element 14, 34, 32 defining a first horizontal axis and second axis; a connector including element 16 which is fixedly attached to the element 14 wherein the connector is flexible and a bottom portion thereof can flex/move relative to element 14, therefore is "adapted to rotate relative to the substantially horizontal leg of the frame about the said first axis".

Art Unit: 3738

Regarding claim 2, see tubular portion 32.

Response to Arguments

Applicant submitted no arguments or reasons for patentability.

Conclusion

THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the mailing date of this final action.
